Module Title: Specialist Study Composition 3 (Folk)

Module code:	X_FLK6C001R	NQF level:	Level 6
Credit value:	40 credits	Semester of study:	1 and 2
Module type:	Compulsory	Pre-requisites:	None
Available to:	BA (Hons) Music (Folk)

Module overview

The student will be expected to have a highly developed awareness of their compositional identity and to be able to apply this in a consistent and focused manner evidencing a creative imagination. The student will be expected to present ideas to their one to one tutor in order to scope a substantial portfolio of original material. From a professional perspective, the student might choose to hone their industry-specific skills by composing/arranging and producing a showcase-style portfolio of pieces, demonstrating their ability to handle a variety of different styles and to show a professional attitude to their practice and its presentation. Alternatively, the student might be more concerned with individual artistry and engage in experimentation within their own stylistic remit, for example, to create pieces which explore the boundaries of 'traditional' form and question the idea of musical norms within this context. An extensive range of global musical styles will be available to the student composer so that they are able to critically reflect on the stylistic choices that they make. Students will be encouraged to explore elements of folk traditions that are less well known in the U.K. (e.g. Galician, Bulgarian music or Scandinavian) so that they have a wide range of choices to draw upon. Composers will be encouraged to consider all the music parameters available to them, including elements such as timbre so that they can create folk-inspired music that has strong elements of originality through the fusion of different traditions/genres.

Aims

This module is designed to continue the support of the students' development in compositional practice. Recognising the importance of continual development, through one-to-one teaching opportunities, students will have opportunities to refine their expression, technical ability and musicianship to produce an extended portfolio of work.

The module aims to:

1. Enable the student to enhance and refine their understanding of the creative techniques of musical composition and arrangement with sophistication.
2. Provide students with the opportunity to compose and/or arrange large-scale pieces or portfolio of original material.
3. Enable students to have a highly developed awareness of their compositional identity and to be able to apply this in a consistent and focused manner.

Learning outcomes

On successful completion of this module, students will be able to:

1. Compose/arrange and present original compositions of an advanced standard with a clear awareness of style and a realised and focussed compositional voice.
2. Present original compositions/arrangements that evidence a professional technical compositional ability alongside a creative and imaginative sense of character.
3. Demonstrate the ability to realise a collection of compositions suitable for public performance and/or consumption.

Learning and teaching methods

One to one tuition facilitates a developmental process over two trimesters. It is designed to build upon existing skills in technique and musicianship in order to establish strong composition skills with the aim of developing expression, creativity and technique.

Workshops/seminars are designed to support the student's one-to-one activity and place their specialist study in the wider context of technical considerations, artistic expression and critical insight. This will inform their technical assessment and portfolio submission (which may be structured as a performance or traditional composition portfolio depending on the pathway they are undertaking). On the Folk Pathway composition students will work with other composers and performers across year groups to facilitate creative reflection via peer to peer feedback workshops and seminars.
